

High resistance to extreme conditions

Environmental influences or your working environment requires safe transmission units? Then, Nozag's "gold" screw jack will meet your requirements perfectly. Thanks to its corrosion resistance, it is predestined for use e. g. in contact with aggressive substances and oxidation, or in other acid or alkaline environments.

Nozag attaches the highest importance to safety, reliability and of course also to perfect service. Therefore we enlarged our sales network with additional partners in Germany and France to ensure closer proximity to our clients.

Additional sales partners in Germany and France

Screw jacks in Swiss quality come another step closer to you. We welcome two new sales partners for the north Bavaria area in Germany and for western France. We are looking forward to a successful cooperation.

The "golden" screw jack with many advantages

The housing has a golden shimmer due to the aluminum-bronze material CuAl10Fe5Ni5, all spindles/shafts and internal components are made of stainless steel or plastic. It thus ensures high corrosion resistance, as well as resistance against surface damage. The screw jacks are available in various sizes, in rotating or non-rotating version, as well as in ATEX version.

Safety also for the digital exchanges with Nozag

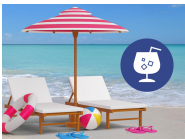

In times of hacker attacks and fraud attempts, we regularly improve our processes. In order to maintain our cooperation at highest safety standards, we want to inform you as follows on our standards in relation with payments:

- Nozag will never ask you unannounced, by phone or through unusual channels (private emails, etc.) to make payments to bank accounts that have never been used previously.
- In the event of changes relating to bank details of Nozag, we will always inform you proactively, and without reference to any concrete payment/invoice.
- Payments to Nozag shall be made without exception by bank transfer to a bank account authorized by Nozag.
- The valid bank details are also stated on our invoices.

If you are requested to make a payment - for example on invoices - to a previously unknown account or in any other unusual way, we ask you never to comply with such requests. In such a case, please contact immediately your contact person at Nozag. By doing so, you will make a major contribution to making our and your payment transactions a little more secure. Many thanks.
